

Scam Education Kit - an example of an email phishing scam

From: Commonwealth Bank Security Department [Blevins21@a1.mbn.or.jp]
Sent: Tuesday, 4 March 2008 5:08 AM
To:
Subject: Commonwealth Bank Online: Customer Security Services Alert

Dear customer of Commonwealth Bank,

Commonwealth Bank is committed to safeguarding customer information and combating fraud. We have implemented industry leading security initiatives, and our online banking services are protected by the strongest encryption methods and security protocols available. We continue to develop new solutions to provide our online banking services and their customers with confidence and security.

The added security measures require all NetBank customers to complete on a regular basis Online Form. Please use the hyperlink below to access Online Form:

<https://www3.netbank.commbank.com.au/netbank/bankmain>

If your account information is not updated within 48 hours then your ability to access your account will become restricted. Unfortunately, if your information remains not updated for an extended period of time, it may result in account termination.

Please note:

If you received this notice and you are not an authorized Commonwealth Bank account holder, please be aware that it is in violation of Commonwealth Bank policy to represent as an Commonwealth Bank user. Such action may also be in violation of local, national and/or international law.

Sincerely,
Commonwealth Bank Customer Service department.

Please do not reply to this email.
This mailbox is not monitored and you will not receive a response.
Commonwealth e-mail ID:
HFJK43K5LMSLL35MKFM5L,FLK3M

