3.1 The System

- a. Will not be available to the User and its Employees for access during Downtime.

 - i. lodge, make changes to or release a security bond;

4. Employee accounts

4.1 Level of access

An Employee may be granted:

- a. Read only access (view records and create paper forms);
- b. Submitter access (completion and submission of forms);
- c. Approver access (approving payments), or
- d. Both submitter access and approver access.

4.2 Authorising employees

- a. The Employee Account Administrator can use WARAM to authorise others to act on the User's behalf when using BondsOnline.
- b. Any such authorisation does not replace a power of attorney – if the relevant agency for a digital service requires a power of attorney to be established, then the User must follow the appropriate process for establishing the power of attorney.
- c. Any such authorisation is not to be considered as any kind of commercial arrangement, legally binding or otherwise, between the User and the organisation or person the Employee Account Administrator authorises. The User should have appropriate contractual arrangements to authorise the organisation or person to act on the User's behalf.
- d. By authorising an organisation or another person via WARAM for BondsOnline, the User agrees that the Department and the State may assume that organisation or person has authority to act on the User's behalf for BondsOnline; and a communication, notice or document is given to the User if it is given to the organisation or person the User has authorised.

- e. If the Employee Account Administrator authorises an organisation or another person via WARAM to act as an Account Administrator for BondsOnline, then the User agrees that the organisation or person may authorise other people to act on the User's behalf for BondsOnline. Those other people can then act on the User's behalf as if the User had authorised them personally.
- f. It is the sole responsibility of the individual or organisation to ensure that all authorisations to act on their behalf are current and that those who hold authorisations have the capacity to act on, or contract on, their behalf.
- g. The Department and the State take no responsibility for any authorisation or appointment that is not current; the disclosure of information to any unauthorised or unappointed organisation or person; or any unauthorised or unappointed organisation or person carrying out a transaction.

4.3 Employees accepting authorisation

If an Employee accepts an authorisation from the Employee Account Administrator via WARAM to act on behalf of the User, then:

- a. The Employee must carry out only transactions and communications on behalf of the User for which the Employee is currently authorised (meaning the Employee Account Administrator has authorised the Employee for that transaction or communication, and not withdrawn that authorisation);
- b. If that authorisation is based on the Employee holding a certain position (for example, as an employee), the Employee must hold that position at the time of the transaction or communication;

- c. If the Employee's authorisation is held as a result of law (for example, as a Power of Attorney), then that authorisation must be current at the time of the communication or transaction; and
- d. The Employee must comply with any request made by the Department or the State for the Employee to verify the authorisation to act on behalf of the other person.

It is the Employee's responsibility to ensure that the User on behalf of whom the Employee is carrying out the transaction or communication has properly authorised the Employee to do so via WARAM – and that the Employee's authorisation remains valid and current.

4.4 Termination

- a. It is the responsibility of the User to provide a notice to the State to terminate an Employee account for the Employee Account Administrator; and the State agrees that that notice will be actioned by the State within two (2) business days of receiving notice.
- b. If an Employee, other than an authorised representative of the User, provides notice to the State that an Employee account should be terminated, the State will terminate the Employee account and will notify an authorised representative of the User.
- c. It is the responsibility of the User and the Employee Account Administrator to terminate any Employee account using WARAM immediately if the employee no longer requires access to the system to complete their duties, if the employee is no longer employed by the User, or where the user has reason to believe the employee is acting irresponsibly or fraudulently in their use of the system.

5. Direct Debit Authorisation

- a. The State may deduct monies from the User's bank account(s), unless the User provides notice to the Department of the termination of that authority or the addition of a new authority from time to time, for the purposes of a transaction being initiated in the System by the User.
- b. The State may also deposit monies into the User's bank account(s), unless the User provides notice to the Department of the termination of that authority or the addition of a new authority from time to time, for the purpose of complying with an Order for Disposal of Security Bond issued by the Magistrates Court or if the User omits to provide valid bank account details on a Joint application for disposal of security bond form.
- c. Where the User is a licensed real estate agent, the User acknowledges that only the User's trust account(s) can be used for the purposes of the System and it must continue to meet its obligations under the Real Estate and Business Agents Act 1978 and associated Regulations in respect of trust moneys.
- d. The User and the State are bound by the terms of the Direct Debit Request (DDR) Service Agreement which outlines the obligations of both the State and the User under a direct debit arrangement for the BondsOnline system. The terms of the DDR Service Agreement are outlined at Annexure A to these T&Cs.

6. Downtime

- a. The State will take all reasonable steps to ensure that the System will be available at all times, other than Downtime.
- b. The State does not warrant System availability; and the User releases the State from any and all liability as a result of System unavailability. The State will, whenever it is reasonably practicable to do so, provide notice in advance of scheduled System maintenance but only when the State reasonably believes Downtime will be one (1) hour or more.
- c. Security bonds must be lodged with the Bond Administrator within the period required by the Acts, even in the event of Downtime. If Downtime is expected to continue for a significant period, the Bond Administrator will notify the User in accordance with clause 6(b) and advise the User if lodgement of a paper form is acceptable as an alternative to lodgement via BondsOnline.

7. Modification of System

The State may at any time modify the whole or any part of, or add functionality to, the System, the Data or any equipment, hardware, software or other thing forming part of or in connection with the System or may turn off any functionality of the System as it sees fit to protect the interests of the State.

8. Termination

- a. If the User does not comply with the User obligations under these Terms, then the Department may lock, suspend, or terminate the User's access to the System (including the use of any account).

- b. The Department may also lock, suspend or terminate the User's access to the System at any time and for any reason.
- c. The Department may also close accounts that have not been used after a certain amount of time.
- d. The User may terminate their access to the System after giving 21 days written notice to the Department.

9. Exclusion of warranties

- a. The State does not warrant that the System will perform in any particular manner.
- b. The User agrees that except as otherwise provided by these T&Cs or any law, all terms, conditions and warranties implied by custom, general law or written law are excluded.
- c. When a written law implies any term, condition or warranty in respect of the supply of goods or services ("Prescribed Term") and that written law prohibits the limitation, modification or exclusion of the Prescribed Term, the Prescribed Term will be deemed to be included in these T&Cs. However, the liability of the State for breach of the Prescribed Term will, to the extent permitted by the written law, be limited at the option of the State to:
 - i. Supplying the service again;
 - ii. The payment of the cost of having the service supplied again;
 - iii. Repair or replacement of the goods, or the supply of equivalent goods;
 - iv. The payment of the cost of repairing or replacing the goods or of acquiring equivalent goods.

10. Exclusion of liabilities

- a. The User acknowledges that it accesses the System at its own risk and at its own cost and that the State will not be liable in negligence or howsoever to the User in respect of any loss, cost, or damage (including consequential loss or damage), however arising, which may be suffered or incurred or which may arise directly or indirectly in respect of the System, the User's access to the System, or the Agreement including, without limitation, loss or damage in connection with Downtime or problems associated with any System malfunction or Unauthorised Access, included but not limited to, Hacking.
- b. The user agrees to indemnify the State from and against all actions, suits, claims, demands, liabilities, costs, expenses, loss and damage (including legal costs and expenses) reasonably incurred or suffered by the State as a direct or indirect consequence of:
 - i. A breach of these Terms and Conditions by the User; or
 - ii. Any wilful, unlawful or negligent act or omission by the User in connection with the User's or its Employees' Use of the System.
- c. The State expressly disclaims all liability in negligence or howsoever for, to the maximum extent permitted by law, any and all loss or damage arising from any error, omission, or defect, in any extract produced from the System, Data or the information contained therein, arising from Use by the User or an Employee.

11. Notices

- a. A notice or other communication in connection with these T&Cs must be in writing, may be given by a duly authorised representative of the User and must be submitted through the System or, if the System is unavailable, emailed to bondsonline@dmirs.wa.gov.au.
- b. A notice or other communication takes effect from the time it is received, unless a later time is specified in the notice or communication. For the purposes of this clause, a letter sent by post is taken to be received on the third Business Day after posting and a communication sent by email is taken to be received on the next Business Day.

12. Compliance with laws

Nothing in these T&Cs will in any way waive or diminish the User's obligations to comply with the Acts or any other applicable laws.

13. Directions and instructions

The User will comply with any direction or instruction of the State from time to time.

14. Variation

The Department reserves the right, at its sole discretion, to change or replace these T&Cs at any time. The Department will endeavour to highlight any significant or substantive changes to the User via the Department's website where it is practical to do so.

15. Information

Information may be subject to the State Records Act 2000 and the Freedom of Information Act 1992 and may be prepopulated on Magistrate Court Application Forms for parties applying to the Magistrates Court in accordance with Schedule 1 clause 8(1) of the Residential Tenancies Act 1987, or disclosed in response to Parliamentary questions, Ministerial inquiries and inquiries conducted by or on behalf of the Auditor General of Western Australia, and if technical integration between the System and other software exists, the State may collect information from that software provider and may provide any information necessary for the purposes of that integration.
