

All information contained in regard to address of job and works undertaken should already be included in records kept for invoicing purposes.

Any further up of this is a double up of administrative duties and a huge burden on administrative time.

Codes could be designated to work within accounting systems to define works undertaken.

Regards

Gordon Stimson

Director EnviroPlumb(WA) Pty Ltd
EnviroPumps